7. Please describe what you believe is an appropriate community response to domestic violence and/or sexual assault and what you see as safety issues relating to victim safety and perpetrator accountability in your community. Then describe how you believe these to be the same and different for the Latino communities in your service area.
8. Please describe and rank from 1-5 (1 = most urgent and 5 = least urgent) the top five issues facing the Latino communities in your service area which may or may not be related to domestic violence and/or sexual assault. Name the organizations and social service agencies working on those issues for Latino communities.
9. Please provide an organizational history (positive and challenging) regarding Latino engagement in your community.
10. Describe the relationship of the communities-at-large and the Latino communities.
11. Please provide a short narrative on your community's support of your domestic violence and/or sexual assault organization.
12. What types of cultural competence and or Latino specific training has your community been involved in?
13. Please discuss what areas of training and/or technical assistance your organization would like to receive if selected as a project site.
14. Discuss what you see as possible training areas for the coordinators, for the promotoras and for the community partners.
15. Describe ways in which your program could take on the responsibility of the promotoras.

Determining rural eligibility

I. Determining Eligibility

The following is a step-by-step guide to determine the eligibility of your service area.

1. Identify the county (ies) to be served by this project.
2. Click on the following link: <http://datawarehouse.hrsa.gov/RuralAdvisor/3>
3. Select the state or territory in the drop down menu.
4. Select the county in the drop down menu.
5. One of three messages will appear (eligible, partial eligibility, or ineligible). Follow the directions below to determine your eligibility as a rural applicant, and instructions on how to obtain the documentation necessary confirming your eligibility:

Example 1: Eligible

Example: Yes! All locations in this county (Archuleta County, Colorado) are eligible

Your eligibility has been determined for this county. This process needs to be completed for each and every service area. If you have additional service areas, go back to Step 1 and complete the same process for each area.

Example 2: Partial eligibility

Example: Some parts of this county (Arapahoe County, Colorado) are eligible

Only areas that are determined to be rural are eligible for funding through the OVW Rural Program. You will have to continue with the eligibility determination process as listed (below), to further explore eligibility within these regions via census tract.

1. For all counties found partially eligible or ineligible (Examples 2 and 3), please proceed to the following: http://factfinder.census.gov/servlet/DatasetMainPageServlet?_lang=en&_submen%20uld=datasets_1&program=DEC
2. On the right column click on “custom table”
3. On the tabs at the top, click on “geo within geo”
4. Under “show me all” click “census tracts”
5. Under “within” select “county”
6. Under “select a state” select your state
7. Under “select a county” select your county
8. Under “geographic area” select “all census tracts”
9. Click “add”
10. Click “next”
11. Select “P2 Urban and Rural” and click “go”
12. In the next box select “urban” and “rural” and click “add”
13. Click “next”
14. Click on “show result”
